

SCHUMER REPORT

Economic Stimulus Package to Send Upstate New York Schools Almost
$496 Million in Direct Funding

With Upstate New York school districts facing historic budget deficits as the national economy continues to decline, U.S. Senator Charles E. Schumer today announced the school district by school district breakdown of the nearly $1.7 billion in direct education funding New York schools will receive from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. Schumer said that the Obama economic recovery package will also send $3.03 billion to New York State for an education stabilization fund to restore proposed state cuts to education. Schumer said this stabilization funding will restore nearly all of New York’s education cuts this year, while direct-to-school aid will boost local school districts with the funds they need as they face historic budget gaps.
